WANTS PROPERTY SOLD

Suit Brought in Spuerior Court By Mrs. L. J. Boss of New London.

Mrs. Louisa J. Boss has brought suit against Charles Royce Boss, Miss-es Isabelle and Susan Boss, all of New London, Mrs. Beulah Church of Portland, Mr., and Mrs. Elizabeth McMaster of Fort Sill, Okla., to sell property in Broad street, New London, in which all are part owners so that she may secure her share of the proceeds. Papers in the suit have been served by Deputy Sheriff J. H. Tubbs on the defendants residing in New London and are returnable before the superior court the first Tuesday in May.

The compliant alleges that the plain The complaint alleges that the plain-tiff and defendants are owners as ten-ants in common of real estate in Broad street, subject to the life estate of Charles D. Boss, who is now in possession and occupies the premises.

Each of the defendants and the plaintin have an undivided one-sixth interest in the property, the complaint sets forth, and a partition of the interests cannot be had except by a sale of the property and a division of the property.

The plaintiff claims by way of equitable relief that the property be sold and that the proceeds be divided. The plaintiff is the divorced wife of Joseph S. Boss, brother of the defendants and she secured title to his place of the property by research share of the property by reason of alimony awarded her by the courts, when she was given her divorce.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED. At Party at Home of Miss Jennie E

Miss Jennie E. Potter delightfully entertained 12 friends Saturday evening, at her home, 730 Boswell avenue. The evening's fun began immediately when all were invited to a room where a large spider's web had been made. The first to untangle har thread of the web was Miss Lena Race, who found the prize, a Kewple, fancifully drassed in yellow ribbon. It was found as each thread was untwined that, with "Kewple," each gave a message announcing the engagement of

That the news was no profound secret with her friends was shown by the many handsome and useful gifts presented Miss Potter.

The evening passed very quickly with music and many games. The color scheme of the evening was white and gold and was most effective.

The dining room and table where a dainty luncheon was served, was especially lovely. The color design was carried out from the handsome centerplece of yellow daffodills to the centerplece of yellow daffodills to the gold and white dishes. Pretty place cards were used. The evening favors were small gold baskets with white handles tied with yellow ribbon. These

Rev. Dr. Joel B. Slocum Addressed I. O. O. F. Lodges at Central Baptist Church-His Theme "The Middle Link"-Its Three Strands.

No. 37, with members of Hope Re-bekah lodge, No. 21, were present by invitation at the morning service at the Central Baptist church on Sunday and the pastor, Rev. Joel B. Slo-cum, preached a special sermon for

The Middle Link. Dr. Slocum's subject was "The Middle Link," and his text was I Cor-13.13: "Now Abideth Faith, Hope, Love, these three; and the greatest of these is love." Among other things the speaker said:

off the three beautiful links of your order, the middle one—love—is the greatest. It reaches two ways: Through the first link, friendsship, toward man, and through the third link, truth, toward God. If I may change the text, "Friendship, love, truth, these three; but the greatest of these is love."

Three Strands.

The middle link is composed of many strands all forged together into a compact of wonderful sweetness and Three of these strands destrength. Three of these strands de-serve our special consideration; com-passion, fellowship, service. In the story of the God Samaritan, which is a classic in Oddfellowship, it is related that one man who looked upon the suffering stranger had compassion. And he was the very man who might be expected to cherish prejudice and hatred. The others who were fellow countrymen and who were also devotees of religion, passed by on the other side.

This man, who has the compassion was a hated Samaritan. His people and the Jews had been in a deadly feud for two hundred years. cruel and relentless caste system of India is the only modern illustration of these two adequately sets forth the intersity and bitterness of the alienation of these two peoples. For a Jew to touch a Samaritan, or a Samaritan to touch a Jew was defie-is entirely lacking and cordially de-spised. In the lodge room and everywhere else, the rich and the poor meet on precisely the same plane, and they meet as brothers. A cordial principle of the order, is that expressed is that famous line of Burns, "A man's a man for a' that." And all this is made possible through compassion.

There are thousands upon thousands of Oddfellows who cannot attend the lodge meetings, but who continue their support, because they believe in the principles and practices of the order. They know that they are adding to the world's good by relieving it of some of its hurt. A great host of people will rise up to call you blessed because, when they were sick, you came upto them, when they were in need, you ministered to their necessi-

Conversely, it would seem that hate is the FIRST ANNUAL DANCE ly, it would seem that hate is the worst thing in the world. Sallows in "The Merchant of Venice, allows that it is his hatred of Antonio, rathbeen against avarice and hatred, and many victories have been the result. Old, but still inexpressibly beautiful, is the story concerning Beecher and the ragged newsboy. The little fellow was out at the heels and elbows, and was out at the heels and clows, and the night was bitter cold. Buying a paper of him Mr. Beecher said to him, "You may keep the change, my little man." Then with compassion in his eyes and sympathy in his voice. the great preacher added the tender inquiry. "Are you not cold?" Tears started down over the little pinched face as he answered, "Well sir, I was cold before I met you, but I am warm now.

Towards God and Men. Another strand of the middle link is fellowship. The very word carries with it the suggestion of beneficient activities. The beautitude of the merciful is that he in turn shall receive mercy. It is here that we begin to enter the mysteries of redemytion. The embilion of the second demption. The ambition of the sreat Apostle was that he might know Christ and the power of his resur-rection and the fellowship of his suffering. This strand of fellowship Mrs. A. F. Wood and Miss Lucy Hopkins of Danielson were guests of Mrs. F. A. Towne Saturday.

Quartermaster Evans of Chicago visited his parents here over the week end. He expects to leave for the front at short notice.

AWAY YOUR GLASSES

The statement is made that thousands wear glasses who do not really need them. If you are one of these unfortunates, then these glasses may be ruining your eyes instead of helping them. Thousands who wear these "windows" may prove for themselves that they can dispense with glasses if they will get the following prescription filled at once: Go to Lee and Oszood or any active drug store and get a bottle of Optona; fill a two-ounce bottle with warm water and drop in one Optona tablet. With this harmiess liquid solution bathe the eyes two to four times daily, and you are likely to be astonished at the results right from the start. Many who have been told that they have astigmatism, eye-strain, cataract, sore cyclids, weak eyes, conjunctivitis and other eye disorders, report wonderful benefits from the use of this prescription. Get this prescription filled and use it; you may so strengthen your eyes that glasses will not be necscription. Get this prescription filled and use it; you may so strengthen your eyes that glasses will not be necessary. Thousands who are blind, or nearly so, or who wear glasses would never have required them if they had cared for their eyes in time. Save your eyes before it is too late! Do not become one of these victims of neglect. Eyeglasses are only like crutches and every few years they must be changed to fit the ever-increasing weakened condition, so better see if you' can, like many others, get clear, healthy, strong magnetic eyes through the prescription here given.
